

The Constitution

The introduction to the Constitution is called the Preamble. It begins with the words: "We the beople." In one to two paragraphs, explain the importance of these three words.

Name	_ Date